DOR Move To Dekalb County Nearly Complete

ATLANTA – The Georgia Department of Revenue has nearly completed its move to Century Center in Dekalb County.

“Except for portions of the Compliance Division and the Sales and Use Tax Division, which will move in December, we have completed the move to Century Center,” Revenue Commissioner T. Jerry Jackson announced today.

Individuals seeking general information should use the following telephone numbers. Within the metro area call 404-656-8477. Outside the metro area call 1-877-602-8477.

“To assist taxpayers, the main numbers for our Divisions are being automatically forwarded through the end of December,” Jackson added.

Jackson also announced that the Department had a new Internet web site address www.gatax.org.

“Individuals can continue to use the old address, however, we believe the new address is easier to remember,” Jackson explained.

A listing of new telephone numbers is available online.

The Department’s new mailing address is Georgia Department of Revenue, 1800 Century Center Boulevard, NE, Atlanta, GA 30345-3205.

“Our new location has easy accessibility off I-85 at Clairmont Road. We have an enhanced customer service area, which provides centralized “one stop” service to the public,” Jackson said.
